The Bombay Gazette

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1883.

The Chinese Government is so loudly proclaiming its belief in the imminence of war that a suspicion, or perhaps we should say a hope, arises that the reiterated declarations on the subject are suggested by a desire to impress France with an idea of the determination of China to stand no nonsense. It may be that the same motive prompts the concentration of troops at Canton, and even that attack upon Haiphong by 3,000 men who are termed in the despatch "Chinese troops," but who are doubtless the Black Flags—the chief difference being really one of name only. War between France and China is considered inevitable. No one can fail to see that it is quite on the cards. Indeed, it may be said that there is war at present, and that the only question is whether it will continue to be localised in Tongking, or will extend along the Chinese sea-board and involve the blockade or the bombarding of the Treaty Ports. It will really depend upon France which course events will take. China has no navy which can undertake active operations, while the French can avail themselves of their maritime superiority to make demonstrations against vulnerable points. But if they do this they will run the manifest risk of embroiling themselves with Great Britain, which has such large interests to protect in the Chinese seas, to say nothing of Germany and the United States. M. Ferry may resolve to forego whatever advantages a blockade of the chief ports of China might give, in view of the risks which it would involve. If so, China from the nature of the case will confine her operations to feeding the resistance in Tongking. She may even find means to stir up Annam and disquiet French Cochin China. The withdrawal into China of the Annamite Mandarin sent by the French to procure the pacification of Tongking, is indicative of the influence possessed by the great neighbouring Empire over the minds of those who have been so easily brought to submit on paper. Seeing that the Chinese negotiators were willing to recognise the French protectorate of Annam, which would give to the Republic the control of a country with a population of ten or twelve millions, it seems unaccountable that the French did not accept the offer, and thereby legalise their position, while avoiding the serious complications which now cause so much anxiety.

It was certainly not the least important task imposed on the Education Commission to find out what those classes of the people were which required special treatment. The Report states them to be as follows ; and most people will agree that the enumeration pretty well covers the educational ground meant to be included. (1) Native Chiefs and Noblemen : (2) Muhammadans ; (3) Aboriginal races ; (4) Low castes ; (5) Poorer Classes of Society. With these the Commission have dealt, entrusting to Mr. K. Deighton the framing of their responses concerning the first two species, and to Mr. Lee-Warner the setting out of their views regarding the last three. These gentlemen have done full justice to the task assigned them, and their names lend weight to the conclusions they express in clear and terse English on behalf of the Commission.

Whether these conclusions are homogeneously grouped will be a matter for individual speculation. To one, the confusion of native princes and native noblemen with the low castes and the aborigines may seem an incongruity or a piece of mauvaise plaisanterie ; another may view the important body of Muhammadans (we observe the spelling of the Report) as rather cavalierly disposed of in a score of pages, a good part of them engrossed by the Memorial of the Muhammadan Association at Calcutta and the replies thereto : a third may assert the expediency of focussing all the classes requiring special—and we presume fresh—treatment : and Sir Lepel Griffin, who vows he is ready to deliver up the ghost when he beholds an educated native prince, will accept the congeries with unfeigned satisfaction. But it is not too much to say that such legislation as will follow, though at what distance of time experience of Commissions bids us beware of saying, must apply itself strenuously to the two classes with which Mr. Deighton is particularly concerned. With local self-government becoming a developed institution in British territory both the native prince and the native nobleman are likely to be more closely drawn into the business of administration. Municipal administrations will be springing up at their doors and beside their borders, and we may be sure if these are successful the native under native rule will make his voice heard in demand of similar advantages. A native chief or nobleman who is not imbued with the spirit of English education will probably fail in satisfying this demand : but one who, like the Maharajah of Jeypore and some others, understands this condition of his existence as a ruler, on the other hand will consolidate his own power and at the same time make his people prosperous. As hindrances to this desirable wish for education on the part of natives of high rank there are of course a great many widely-prevailing and perplexing circumstances. The Report points out that the native chief or nobleman has his own standard of civilisation. It may not be, indeed is not with a few notable exceptions, a very high one. His court ; his zenana ; two guns as an addition to his salute ; a piano organ and unlimited champagne : it is these that represent the better sides of civilization in his eyes. "The pleasures which satisfy his forefathers"—we quote the Report—"satisfy him, and in his national poetry he finds abundant food for his literary tastes." To confirm him in this attitude of indifference to learning are such influences as spring from the fact of early marriage (which, the compiler truly reflects, has its "distractions"), the fact that he lives remote from large centres, and the fact that for him the profession of arms has attractions far less easily resisted than those of the book or the pen. There is, however, another, and we are disposed to think a truer, reason given, secondarily, for the backwardness of native chiefs and noblemen. It is to be found in the words of the Report—"no measures of importance have been taken to attract these classes towards our education" ; and accordingly we find the proper recommendation made "that Local Governments be invited to consider the question of establishing special colleges or schools for the sons and relatives of native chiefs and noblemen where such institutions do not now exist." The marked success attained at the Rajkoomar College at Ajmere during the last seven years is referred to as an encouragement in this course. The chiefs are now no longer reluctant to send their sons to that educational institution, and the pupils themselves like their life at a public school, and learn to take part in athletic sports, while making fair progress in their studies. Mere institutions of the same kind may reasonably be expected to accomplish a good and necessary work.

The question of Muhammadan education is one of which the importance was long since recognised. Of the two millions and a half of Muhammadans shown by the census for 1872 as belonging to the Bombay Presidency, more than one million three hundred thousand belong to Sind alone ; while of the entire number, only 1,499 were shown as attending any Government college or English school. There are three main causes why Musalmans have fallen behind in the race of education ; and they are in curious contrast with those accounting for the educational progress of the Hindu. A young Hindu is first and foremost taught with an eye to his official employment or professional career. Not so with a Musalman youth ; his first valuable years are spent in a course of sacred but not lucrative learning. Secondly, it is said the Musalman parent cannot so well afford to give his son a complete education as [illegible] Thirdly, lastly and perhaps mainly, the Musalman looks to educating his son as a member of the learned community, and not as a man fitted to grapple with the stern realities of life and struggles for existence in an age of extraordinary competition, when the productive power of land is falling, and the population is pari passu increasing. In this state of things the Report propounds several recommendations. It proposes to urge the special encouragement of Muhammadan education upon Local Governments at the cost of Local, Municipal, and Provincial funds : existing indigenous institutions are to be secularized : the higher English education of Muhammadans is inculcated as being what that community especially needs : arrangements for the institution of scholarships are proposed, to be awarded in one school and tenable in the next highest in point of grade ; and, while generally Local Governments are recommended to more favourably consider the claims of Muhammadans to patronage, it is advised that, when possible, Muhammadan inspecting officers should be more largely employed in the inspection of primary Muhammadan schools.

THE ROYAL JOURNEY.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

MEERUT, Nov. 26.

The special train with the Duke and Duchess of Connaught arrived at Meerut about 5 o'clock this afternoon; and, as at all other places along the route, the station was gay with decoration. General Sir Robert Bright, commanding the station, received the Duke and Duchess; and there was a large assemblage of military and civilians on the platform in addition. General Bright introduced the young daughter of Colonel Pennington, 13th Bengal Lancers, who presented the Duchess with a handsome bouquet. Heads of departments, also officers commanding regiments, were presented to the Duke and Duchess. Outside there was a fine array of soldiers, and the 5th Northumberland Fusiliers paraded in full strength and formed a guard-of-honour, while the 13th Bengal Lancers formed a cavalry escort. A troop of Royal Horse Artillery fired a major-general's salute in honour of the arrival.

Along the whole route there have been demonstrations in honour of the Royal party. The principa railway stations were illuminated, Sujet, situated in the heart of Rajputana, making an especially brilliant display. This morning the Duke opened a private station built at Ulwar by the Maharajah at a cost of several lakhs. A salute was fired by a battery of artillery, and there were brought up on parade three infantry and three cavalry regiments. On entering the new station the Duke and Duchess were received by the Maharajah, his Prime Minister, and the principal state officers, including three members of his Council. The Royal party were then entertained at breakfast by the Maharajah, who subsequently presented the Duke with tiger skins, a large collection of photographic views of places of interest in Ulwar, and a massive gold chain and star studded with diamonds. The Duchess was also presented with a gold chain. On the train leaving the station the artillery again fired a salute.

At Delhi the Royal party received a splendid reception from a large concourse, including military and civilians and leading natives, among whom were several native princes. A company of artillery fired the salute due to a major-general's rank, and the Suffolk Regiment, under command of Colonel Hunter, formed a guard-of-honour. On alighting on the platform the Duke and Duchess were received by the Deputy Collector, who introduced a native princess and the nobles present, among whom was the Nawab of Loharu, a member of the ci-devant Royal family of Delhi. The Nawab congratulated the Duke and Duchess upon having arrived safely on their journey, and wished, on behalf of himself and brother princes, that His Royal Highness would have a prosperous career in India. The Duke having expressed his acknowledgments, the Royal party were entertained at luncheon by the Sinde, Punjab, and Delhi Railway Company. Subsequently, they took special train to Meerut on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway. The arrangements were satisfactorily carried out by Messrs. Dangerfield, Manager, O'Callaghan, Traffic Superintendent, and Ackton, Police Superintendent. From Delhi to Meerut the arrangements were under the superintendence of Mr. David Ross, manager. The Viceroy is expected here early to-morrow morning, but it is not yet definitely known whether he will break his journey or proceed direct to Calcutta.

THE STATESMAN LIBEL CASE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Nov. 26.

The case of Messrs. Roberts and Morgan vs. Knight for libel, which was to come before Mr. Justice Cunningham at the Calcutta sessions to-day, is to be withdrawn, the prosecution suggesting an amicable settlement and inviting Mr. Knight's assurance that he had no intention of charging them with subornation of perjury. This imputation was, however, disavowed from the first by Mr. Knight.

LATER.

The High Court was crowded this morning to witness the proceedings before Mr. Justice Cunningham. Mr. Pugh for the defendant addressed the Court in a speech of which the following is a resumé:—My lord,—My learned friend on the other side and myself have been in communication with regard to the case, and we purpose with your lordship's sanction that I should now make a statement to your Lordship with reference to it, and upon that statement my learned friend will consider that for the vindication of his client and in the interests of the public, it will be unnecessary to proceed further with the case. I need not read the article, but Mr. Knight holds he was only discharging his duty to the public. The article maintains certain healthy views which have for their support high authority—that it is the duty of attorneys and counsel to satisfy themselves of a case before proceeding further in the matter. Mr. Dickens and Mr. Anthony Trollope put forward these views forcibly. My client also claims Lord Chief Justice Coleridge as an exponent of these views, and the late Justice Dwarkanath Mitter."

Some extracts were then read, and Mr. Pugh continued:—"Now, my client wishes to disclaim that Messrs. Roberts and Morgan had any responsibility for Mr. Fish's story that they ever suggested it or dictated it, or had any hand in concocting it, but he says it is incredible, disgraceful, and revoltiug attributing conduct of which no common prostitute would have been guilty. The story was first launched in the middle of the case when breaking down, and it must have broken down but for this division. The attorneys say they were right in eliciting the fact; that they put it before counsel; and that it rested with their counsel alone. Before proceedings were taken no request was made for any explanation as to what Mr. Knight intended to charge the attorneys with, but in the police court Mr. Knight repudiated the charge of subornation."

After this statement the case was not further pressed.

(FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.)

The defamation case brought by Messrs. Roberts and Morgan against the Statesman has ended in a very tame manner. Mr. Knight apologized, and this morning withdrew unreservedly every statement that had been published in the Statesman against the complainants.

Mr. Justice Cunningham, in addressing the jury, remarked that the strictures passed upon such a well-known firm of solicitors as Messrs. Roberts and Morgan were uncalled for, and he was very glad that Mr. Knight had acknowledged his error.

THE CALCUTTA VOLUNTEERS AND LORD RIPON.

It is certain that the independent companies of Volunteers will not turn out to greet the Viceroy. The feeling which exists against the Viceroy and against certain members of his Council is intense, and has been further intensified by recent news from home.

A LETTER has been received from Mr. Grant, in which he says that rapid progress is being made in the placing of the Bombay exhibits. He is in hopes that, on the opening day, the greater part, although not everything, will be in its proper place. Mr. M. Mowat, the President of the Bombay Committee, proceeds to Calcutta to-morrow.

AN adjourned meeting of the Municipal Corporation was held yesterday to further consider the subject of the various outstanding claims of the Municipality against Government with reference to the question of the proposed extension of local self-government. The question immediately before the Corporation was the portion of the Sub-Committee's report which related to the revenue derived from liquor licence fees. Mr. Nowrozjee Furdoonjee proposed "that having regard to the inadequacy of the amount of compensation paid to the Municipality under the terms of section 63 of Bombay Act V. of 1878, the Corporation are of opinion that in making the adjustment of charges between Government and the Municipality in regard to the new sheme generally, due regard be had to the heavy loss of revenue suffered by the Corporation consequent on the operation of the said Act; and that Government be requested to move the Bombay Legislative Council to sanction such amendments in the said Act as will ensure to the Municipality the full amount of the revenue realisable from the sale of liquor licences in the city of Bombay, and from the levy of fines and penalties in connection therewith for municipal purposes, and to vest the entire management and regulation of the liquor licence department in the Municipal Corporation." Mr. Javerilal Umiashankar seconded the proposition. Colonel Merewether proposed an amendment to the effect that the portion of Mr. Nowrozjee's proposition in which Government were asked to make over the control and management of the liquor licence department to the Municipality should be omitted. On a division the amendment was lost, and the original proposition was carried by a large majority.

THE public meeting in support of the St. John's Ambulance Association will be held in the Town Hall on Wednesday, at 5 p.m. H. E. the Governor as President of the Bombay centre of the Association, will occupy the chair.

CHOLERA having broken out in Damaun and Diu, both ports have been declared by the Goa Government infected, and any vessel thence will be subject to quarantine of 48 hours at Goa.

BY the settlement of the account of the Customs duties according to the terms of the new Customs Union between the British and Goa Governments, the latter will have Rs. 80,000 for its share for the past official year.

THE illuminations and fireworks in Bombay on the evening of the 22nd were quite visible from Matheran.

YESTERDAY H. E. the Governor, while driving a mail-phaeton through the Native Town, was near becoming the victim of a collision which might have been much more serious than that with the Hon'ble Acting Chief Justice Bayley and the Parsee Judges. Just before noon, while driving somewhat rapidly from a cross-street into Pydownee a tram-car came along, and the horses grazed and almost ran into the pair His Excellency was driving. By a great effort of strength, instantly applied, the Governor succeeded in pulling his horses round so as to escape a shock which, if it had taken place, must infallibly have thrown them down and upset the mail-phaeton. Those who saw this feat formed a high opinion of His Excellency's coachmanship and presence of mind.

UP to the 22nd instant, says the Englishman, the Secretary of State for India had not vouchsafed a reply to the letter of Sir A. Arbuthnot and the London Committee of the Defence Association, in which they drew attention to the overwhelming majority against the Ilbert Bill shown in the official opinions on the Bill.

THE Madras Mail says:—Mr. George Noble Taylor, Madras Civil Service, retired, formerly a (dumb) member of the Viceregal Executive Council, and now Deputy Chairman of the Madras Railway Company, will most probably succeed the late Mr. Crake, in the Chairmanship of that company.

A RANGOON telegram, November 22, to the Indian Daily News, states:—"The Burmese Government have sent off the first division of five thousand troops to the Shan States, under command of four generals, accompanied by several Italians in the King's service. Theebaw is resolved to make a supreme effort to subdue the Shan Chiefs."

FROM the accounts relating to the trade by land of British India with foreign countries for the first three months of the current financial year, as compared with those of the corresponding period of last year, we see that the value of imports was Rs. 1,25,25,710, as against Rs. 1,17,22,972, and that of exports Rs. 1,52,26,425, as against Rs. 1,33,03,901. The countries showing the largest increase of imports are Lus Beyla, Khelat, Transfrontier by Kandahar State Railway, Kashmere and Nepal, whilst there was a falling off in the trade with Upper Burma, Karenni and Zimmay. The exports have increased to Kandahar, Nepal, Upper Burma, and Karenni, and the largest decrease was in those to Kabul.

HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF JOHORE, who has been absent from his territory for several months, visiting Japan and China, returned to Singapore by the P. and O. mail-steamer Sutlej on the 5th instant, and landed officially, being welcomed by a salute of 17 guns from Fort Canning and a guard of honour of Sikh police, and by a large assemblage of the general public.

THE Indian Daily News speaks of the East Indian Railway, in refusing to join with the G. I. P. R. in arranging for cheap passenger fares for persons desiring to visit the Calcutta Exhibition from long distances, as acting "with characteristic shortsightedness."

WE (Englishman) have heard with much regret of the death, on the 19th instant, from fever, of Her Highness the Maharani of Hutwa. Much sympathy will be felt with the Maharaja at his loss, for the Maharani was known for her good works. Under the circumstances it is not likely that the Maharaja will visit Calcutta this cold season.

IN the course of a very interesting work on "Native Life in Travancore," by the Rev. Samuel Mateer of the London Missionary Society, the receipt of which we take this opportunity of acknowledging, we glean that it is yet a vexed question in Southern India whether Native Christians should retain the kudumi, or top-knot of hair worn by the Hindus; and that missionary opinion is "seriously divided" on the subject. The question of caste and this question of the top-knot are said to be interdependent, and as most missionaries have pronounced against the observance of caste laws, most missionaries in South India also protest against the top-knot. The learned Bishop Caldwell, we learn, wrote, however, an entire pamphlet on the controversy, and he is said to have succeeded in showing that the top-knot did not possess any particular import. Dr. Jared Scudder of the Dutch Reformed Mission "is thankful to say he never baptised a kudumi," and hopes the mission never shall. Mr. Mateer has been at the trouble to note the "position of the kudumi in the system of Hinduism," the position in the human system being, presumably, sufficiently obvious; but though "Native Life in Travancore" contains a thousand really amusing and interesting things which we might quote, the reader must be referred, with regard to the remaining literature of this important question of top-knot or not top-knot and its connection with theology, to the work itself. The history of the Big-Enders and Little-Enders in the voyages of Lemuel Gulliver may be profitably collated.

THE French naval officer who wrote in the Figaro, under the name of Pierre Loti, a description of the conduct of the French troops at the taking of Hue, has been dismissed from the navy. Truth suggests that it would have been better to test the accuracy of his statements before adopting that course.

THE first instance of the use of the electric light in an Established place of worship was supplied on Oct. 26, when St. Matthew's Church, Brixton-road, was illuminated by electricity. The system in use is the Fyfe-Main, the inventor of which has established an extensive lighting station in the vicinity of Brixton station. To light the edifice four arc and sixty small incandescent lamps were brought into requisition. The former were placed in the roof, while the smaller lights were distributed over the lower parts of the building. The result was very satisfactory, the church being suffused by a fine softened light, which burned with great steadiness.

A VERY curious plea was put forward and accepted the other day by a bench of magistrates in the city of London. Application was made for the remission of a fine charged upon a Mr. Cohen, a member of the Jewish community. It was stated by the Chief Rabbi, in a letter addressed to the Bench, that the family of the Cohens are descended from Aaron, the High Priest, and that no Jew bearing the name of Cohen, and being therefore presumably a descendant of the great High Priest, could consistently with his religious obligations enter a house in which a dead body lay. A quotation was made from the Book of Leviticus, showing that it is generally contrary to Jewish custom to enter a house in which there is a corpse. It was, however, asserted that this did not apply to all Jews, but inexorably to the Cohens as presumed descendants of Aaron. Mr. Cohen's objection to serve on the jury being founded on these religious grounds, it was accepted, and the fine was remitted.

A CORRESPONDENT who has been visiting the districts devastated by the recent earthquakes in Asia Minor, says that at least thirty small towns and villages have been destroyed or rendered uninhabitable. In addition, many small hamlets and isolated houses have been destroyed, and many more persons killed and wounded than was at first stated in the Turkish official figures. There is much sickness among the sufferers. Large numbers are now attacked with fever in consequence of exposure.

SATISFACTORY reports continue to be given of the progress of the Mersey Tunnel works. The distance to be excavated under the bed of the river before a communication between Liverpool and Birkenhead is consummated is now less than 400 yards. Thus considerably over three-fourths of the distance between the two shafts has been executed. The main tunnels riverwards also progress, and the drainage heading fulfils its functions so thoroughly that less water is encountered now than hitherto, nor has any interruption or delay occurred to impede the steady advancement of the undertaking. The property necessary for the junction of the Mersey Railway with the Birkenhead and Chester line having been acquired, the houses demolished and cleared away, the contractor, Mr. John Waddell, is pushing on the works, and this section will probably be completed by the end of February next, prior to which it is anticipated that a communication under the river will be effected by the end of the year.

THE danger of overhead wires in London is constantly being brought under notice, and on Oct. 27, was strikingly illustrated. A telephone-wire slipped from the hands of a workman who was manipulating it on the top of a building, and made use of its liberty in a most objectionable manner. It knocked off the hats off several men in the street below and severely injured a woman, on whose head and face it inflicted serious wounds. Several persons, it is stated, narrowly escaped even more severe injuries, and it is, indeed, a marvel that no one was killed. If the wire, instead of knocking off several hats, had knocked off several heads, the affair would probably have attracted much attention. As, however, nobody was killed, it is not likely, the St. James's Gazette thinks, that any decisive steps will as yet be taken to protect the inhabitants of London from a most formidable risk. Decapitation on a large scale is necessary before we have a reform of the overhead-wire nuisance.

MILITARY NEWS.

COURT-MARTIAL.—Gunner Robert Scott, R. A., was charged before a European district court-martial at Bombay on the following charges:—Drunkenness on duty; resisting an escort whose duty it was to have him in charge; and losing by neglect his regimental necessaries. The court found the prisoner guilty, and sentenced him to six months' imprisonment and a fine of one pound.

HYDERABAD CONTINGENT.—The last overland mail brought us news of the death of Colonel Richard Kirwan Macquoid, (M.S.C.), commandant 3rd Infantry H. C. The deceased Field Officer entered the Army in January, 1847, and joined the Contingent service in May, 1856. He was present against the mutineers in Bengal and was present at the sieges, captures, and battles of Rathgur, Bowdia, Saugor, Gurra-Kotah, Zalimpur, Jhansi, Betwah, Koonch, and Kalpi; for which he received a medal and clasp. The gallant Colonel had been connected with the Contingent for over twenty-seven years, and his death is deeply regretted. It may be remembered that this gallant officer lost his first wife at Edinburgh under tragic circumstances, by being murdered.—Surgeon Browne, M. D., of the 3rd Infantry H. C., has resigned this service and returned to his own Presidency (Madras). The officers of the Cossaibhoy Framjee Cup deputed to the Camp-of-Exercise at Bangalore have been permitted to take two chargers with them at the public expense.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER REPORTS.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 23.—Except at some stations in the North-West and Madras the barometer is still falling. The greatest fall is in Lower Bengal and along the area running thence westward to Sind. All along the Orissa and Vizagapatam coast, the winds have gone round to west. Elsewhere they are, generally, in South India, either very light, from between north and west, or calm. But south-east winds at Indore and Abu, and east at Deesa, look like an impending change. The temperature generally is rising again and the humidity also. Except in the Central Provinces there is more cloud and in Sind the skies are overcast. No rain to-day at any station.

Nov. 24.—The barometer continues falling slowly and steadily in all parts of India. The pressure, which on the 18th inst. was much above the average, is now generally below it. The distribution is very uniform except in the south of the peninsula, where it falls to minimum over Ceylon. The temperature changes are slight. It is warmer in Bengal and the southern districts of the Central Provinces, Berar, and Central India, and also at Meerut, Delhi, Barielly, and Ludhiana, but not generally. Southerly winds are blowing at Allahabad, Benares and Hazaribagh. The skies are becoming clouded in the north-west Himalaya, at Roorkie, Meerut, and Delhi. There is some cloud at most stations of the peninsula. No rain is reported from any part of India or Burma, but there have been moderate showers at Trincomalee and Galle.

Nov. 25.—The fall of the barometer has now ceased, and the pressure is slowly increasing in all parts of the area, rather more in the north than in the southern half of the peninsula. Throughout Northern and Central India the air is very calm, and the skies are generally cloudless. In the peninsula the winds are easterly, between north-west and south-east. There is some cloud, and in the northern districts of Madras an increase in the dampness of the air. No rain is reported at any station.

BOMBAY CRIMINAL SESSIONS.—Nov. 26

(Before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice BAYLEY and a Special Jury.)

THE BANK OF BOMBAY DEFALCATIONS.

JAMSETJEE PESTONJEE, lately a shroff in the Bank of Bombay, was charged with having, on the 7th August last, committed theft and criminal breach of trust in respect of Rs. 16,500. He was also charged with having, on the 8th of August, committed the same offence in respect of Rs. 16,000, by dishonestly inducing one Jamsetjee Heerajee, a clerk employed in the bank, to pay the sum on a false pretence that the money was required for the purposes of the bank. The prisoner was also charged with having on the same day committed theft and criminal breach of trust in respect of Rs. 15,500.

The following gentlemen constituted the special jury:—Messrs. John Greenwood, foreman, Tribhowandas Vurjeewandas Madhowdas, E. V. Jordan, John Campbell, N. M. Panday, G. C. Guilder, James Oliver, Jamshed N. Wadia, and G. K. Remington.

Mr. H. A. Hormusjee, a special juror, was exempted from serving on the jury, on his producing a medical certificate of ill-health. Messrs. J. Rich and E. J. Reid were challenged by Mr. Inverarity for the defence.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macnott, Advocate-General, and Mr. Lang, instructed by Messrs. Hore, Conroy, and Brown, appeared for the prosecution; and Mr. Inverarity, instructed by Messrs. Nanu and Horsjeejee, conducted the defence.

The Advocate-General, after calling attention to the sections under which the accused was arraigned, said that the prisoner had been employed as a shroff in the Bank of Bombay for about eight years previous to the occurrence which was the subject of the present trial. His duties were to pay and receive money from the customers of the bank, and he had under him two cashiers, named Dosabhoy Muncherjee and Nusserwanjee Pestonjee, who was the brother of the prisoner. Every morning the prisoner, in order to be able to perform his duties, received a certain amount of silver from the head shroff of the bank, and then put his initials to a memorandum in respect of the money so received by him. For the ordinary purposes of the day the accused then gave a portion of the amount in cash to the cashiers, and the close of each day the prisoner had to account to the deputy shroff for all the moneys which he and his subordinates had paid during the day. The accused had nothing whatever to do with notes, but only with the silver used in the course of the day, and the account he had to make up every evening consisted of the following three items:—First, the amount of cash that he had received in the morning; secondly, the amount of cash that he had in hand at the close of each day and which he had to restore to the safes; and thirdly, what was called the account relating to cheques held as cash. As regarded the G. I. P. R. Company, the cheques in favour of the company were treated by the bank as if they had been cashed, although they should not have been cashed. These cheques were passed into the hands of the prisoner, and were entered by him in his accounts as cheques held as cash.

Mr. Advocate-General then proceeded to say, and that, as in the course of the trial these cheques would form part of some very important evidence that would be produced from his office, he thought it due to all parties to acquaint them with this circumstance.

The Advocate-General said that the evidence which would be produced from the G. I. P. Railway office would be of somewhat a formal nature, and he did not think that the fact of the evidence being obtained from the office to which Mr. Jordan belonged would at all militate against his position as a juryman.

The Judge.—Is this evidence to be simply formal?

The Advocate-General replied in the affirmative.

His lordship then said that that being the case, there was no objection to Mr. Jordan serving on the jury. He were, however, much obliged to him for mentioning the circumstances under which he was placed.

The Advocate-General then proceeded to say that, when the evidence was gone into, he thought the jury would find that a wonderful falsification of the prisoner was charged had been continuing more or less for some considerable time prior to the particular dates in question. They would, therefore, naturally ask how it was that if the defalcations had continued so long, it was possible for the prisoner to conceal them. Now, according to the practice of the bank, the silver was placed in bags of Rs. 2,000 each, and the bags so made up would appear to have been counted at the close of the day. One of the ways in which these defalcations could be accounted for was that the prisoner might have falsified the amount of silver in his hands. But they would observe that such a course would have very quickly led to detection, because although the loose silver was not counted, at all events the bags were, and therefore the offence would have been detected in a very short time. Another way to conceal these defalcations would be by making false entries as regards cheques held as cash, and the learned counsel thought that this was the course adopted by the prisoner. It was necessary for him to say that the prisoner kept two fictitious accounts, one of which was kept at the French Bank in the name of Dossabhoy Hormusjee. But although the account stood in that name, it belonged to the prisoner, and in order to facilitate the prisoner drawing on that account or manipulating it in any way, he liked Dossabhoy Hormusjee signed blank cheques, which the prisoner might fill up at any time. There was also another fictitious account in the Bank of Bombay standing in the name of Dhunjeebhoy Cowasjee Shroff, though this account too, as a matter of fact, belonged to the prisoner. On the evening of the 7th August it was known to all the employés of the bank, including the prisoner, that Mr. Robert Clark, the head accountant, was going to check the cash. It was, therefore, necessary for the prisoner to give another voucher for the cheques held as cash, and that evening he made a return of such cheques as amounting to Rs. 16,500. On the following morning Mr. Clark was very early at the office, and proceeded to open the safe and count the silver. The first thing he came across was the cheque for Rs. 16,500, dated the 6th August, and purporting to be drawn by Dossabhoy Hormusjee in favour of the G. I. P. R. Company, on the account in the French Bank. Mr. Clark, when he saw the cheque, gave directions that it should be at once cashed, and consequently a clerk was sent to present the cheque at the French Bank. But it was not paid, as there were not funds sufficient for the purpose standing to the credit of the account, there being only a sum of Rs. 1,500 left there. The cheque being dishonoured, the clerk returned to the bank and reported the matter. The Deputy Shroff then made inquiries, and inspected the daily memorandum of the prisoner, which ought to have shown the name of the person to whom he had paid the money on account of the cheque. But there was no record of the name, and the only account which the prisoner gave of the matter was that the cheque had been given him by a clerk belonging to the G. I. P. R. Company, whom he knew by sight, but whose name he did not know. The prisoner then, saying that he would go to see the clerk, went out, but returned with the news that the clerk had gone down the line. Evidently, prior to the prisoner going out of the bank, he asked a clerk named Jamsetjee Heerajee to let him have Rs. 16,000 for the purposes of the bank, saying that he would give him an order subsequently. Jamsetjee thereupon gave the prisoner sixteen notes of Rs.1,000 each. What then happened was that about the time the prisoner left the bank, a little before 11 a. m. those self-same notes were paid into the account of Dossabhoy Hormusjee at the French Bank by Nusserwanjee, the prisoner's brother, who was known to the head shroff of the latter bank. The identity of the notes was established on a comparison of the numbers taken on different occasions, which agreed, with but one slight difference. The prisoner eventually came back and informed the Deputy Shroff that the cash had been paid into the account at the French Bank, and the matter dropped for the moment. Counsel said that this sum of Rs 16,000 formed the subject of the charge against the prisoner of breach of trust and obtaining the bank's money on false pretences. The jury would see that the sum of Rs 16,500, for which the fictitious cheque was given, represented the amount of the prisoner's defalcations at the close of the 7th August, and it therefore formed the subject of the charges. On the evening of the 8th of August the prisoner, in the ordinary course of business, made his return of the cash in his hands, and of cheques held as cash. In that return he put down Rs. 15,712-8-6 as the amount of cheques held as cash. Now, the occurrences of the morning appeared to have aroused the suspicions of the deputy shroff, who called upon the prisoner to show him these cheques. The prisoner was only able to show two cheques for Rs. 212-8-6, and he was consequently charged by the deputy shroff with having committed defalcations in respect of the balance of Rs. 15,500. The prisoner was then taken to the house of the head shroff, and they made, on the following morning, an attempt to replace the sum of Rs. 15,500. The prisoner himself produced one way or the other Rs. 6,000, and Rs. 9,500 was made up. This was made up by the deputy shroff borrowing the sum from Marwarees. The deficiency had thus been made up, and the books would appear to have been altered so as to make it appear that the full amount of the cash had been paid. All this was done by the shroffs themselves, without any report being made by any of them to the European officers of the bank; and it was only by an accident that the affair came to the notice of Mr. Fraser, the joint secretary and treasurer of the bank. Upon inquiries made by him of the deputy shroff the present proceedings were taken, and an information was laid by the deputy shroff against the prisoner, who was then arrested on a warrant.

Evidence was then led for the prosecution.

Nusserwanjee Dhunjeebhoy Rana, in cross-examination by Mr. Inverarity, said among other things:—I have been suspended from the service of the bank. I don't know for what reason. I asked for a reason, but Mr. Fraser declined to give any reason then. I have no suspicion as to why I was suspended. The head shroff, Hormusjee Byramjee, is to be charged in his seasons with appropriating Rs. 65,000. The other shroffs of the bank have been suspended. It is not within my knowledge that the prisoner lent moneys to other people besides people outside the bank. I swear I never asked the prisoner to pay any moneys to any person for me out of the bank's moneys. I paid the deficiency of Rs. 9,000 because the head shroff said the deficiency must be made good immediately. I borrowed Rs. 5,000 from Marwarees at 36 per cent. interest. I do not recollect having ever asked the prisoner to pay out moneys on my behalf. I did no business on my own account—never at all. I never dealt in sovereigns. The letter of the bank did. The handwriting of this document resembles mine; but I did not pass it to the prisoner. I don't recognise this document at all. I cannot say which letters in this document do not resemble mine. (Is there another document said to be in his handwriting.) The lower part of the handwriting resembles mine, not the upper part. I don't swear that the upper part is not in Dosabhoy Motiwalla's handwriting. He did not send it to me. He did not write the words addressed to the prisoner in that document. I do not remember whether the prisoner ever paid me moneys out of the bank moneys. I cannot swear; I cannot say positively whether he did so. The prisoner in the other case, Hormusjee Byramjee Rana, is my father's brother. I believe this to be his handwriting. I never received the Rs. 75 mentioned in that document. I did not write a note asking prisoner to give cash in rupees for 200 sovereigns. I did not do any business in sovereigns with Dosabhoy Motiwalla. I had no account with the Bank of Bombay, nor had my uncle, Hormusjee. I do not remember that I and my uncle have been ever since 1878 drawing the bank's moneys in the prisoner's hands. Mr. Clark is the accountant of the bank. Mr. Stranack is head of the security department. Mr. Burn is cashier in the Mazagon branch. Mr. Maclean was in the bank's employ before, but is not now. I do not at all recollect whether any of those gentlemen drew moneys from my uncle on their own account. (Is shown another document.) I cannot explain why my uncle wrote this to Cowasjee shroff, asking him for Rs. 300 to be paid to Mr. Clark, or this note for Rs. 350 to be paid to Mr. Clark. The prisoner got Cowasjee in the evening to write out the account for the day. It was the prisoner's duty to account to Cowasjee for the transactions of the day. (Is shown another document.) This is in my uncle's handwriting, asking Jamsetjee for Rs. 800 to be paid to Mr. Clark on what account I cannot say. (Is shown a bundle of 25 documents.) Twenty-two of these are in my uncle's handwriting; the body of two is in Cowasjee's handwriting, the signature being my uncle's; and one is, I think, in the handwriting of Cowasjee, but not signed by my uncle. This document is in the handwriting of Dosabhoy Motiwalla. These documents are orders to Jamsetjee, the accused, or Cowasjee for the payment of money. I don't know that Cowasjee having no money, the documents would go to the accused for payment. I cannot explain how the thing was done. These two documents are in Mr. Stranack's handwriting. I can give no explanation regarding them. These four documents are in Mr. Clark's handwriting. I can give no explanation regarding them. In August last, owing to the appointment of a new secretary and treasurer, the securities and cash of the bank were to be examined. It was not known then that moneys had been drawn by me from the bank the moneys in the prisoner's hands. I and my uncle got him employed in the bank. I and my uncle did not tell prisoner that we had no moneys to replace the sums drawn through him. I did not tell the prisoner to assist in replacing the moneys. I did not tell prisoner that, if I and my uncle were found out, he would lose his appointment. I and the other two shroffs and the prisoner had a meeting at my uncle's house.

Mr. Inverarity.—If you were an honest man, why did you not report the whole matter at once to the bank officials?

Witness.—Because he gave Rs. 6,500, and promised to give the balance of Rs. 9,000. I had a suspicion that he had concealed moneys somewhere.

Mr. Inverarity.—Why did not Hormusjee report the deficiency of Rs. 65,000 in the bags in the bank's treasury?

Witness.—I don't know. We knew nothing about a deficit. My salary was Rs. 400, and Hormusjee's Rs. 700 a month. The bank's auditors never came to the cash department more than once a year. I don't know if they went to the account department. They used to examine the cash and the boxes, and to pick out a bag here and there—not all the bags. I have never examined the cash myself in the prisoner's hands since 1877. I don't know whether Hormusjee had. I did not request the prisoner to allow the cheque for Rs. 16,500 to be placed among the unpaid. I do not, and did I place it there. I hope to be reinstated by the bank.

Mr. Robert Clark, the accountant of the Bombay Bank, was the next witness. In cross-examination by Mr. Inverarity, Mr. Clark said among other things. The head shroff and paid by him. All the other men in the shroff's department were employed by Hormusjee and paid by him. (Witness is shown translations of six documents in Gujerattee, in which the head shroff mentions his name.) It is quite possible I may have drawn the moneys, but I must have paid them by cheque the next day. I don't remember about all these documents, but it is possible I may have got the sums mentioned in one or two of the documents. I really cannot say. I never got the Rs. 850 in one sum in April, 1878. I went to England in May, 1878. I understood. I paid out of Hormusjee's own moneys from his own desk. I had no idea that these sums came out of the bank's moneys. I always paid the next day by cheques on the Chartered Bank. I don't know what Hormusjee did with the moneys I paid him. I understood the moneys to be his own. I have heard, but have no personal knowledge, that some of the other officers of the bank borrowed moneys of Hormusjee. Two or three days before we counted the cash I asked Hormusjee if he owed him anything, and he said "no." In some of these instances Hormusjee has used my name quite unjustifiably. In all cases of repayment moneys were paid by me into Hormusjee's own hands. Small sums I have paid into the bank. I have had a severe illness since I gave my evidence in the Police Court. I was ill ten days, and have come in to-day.

Pestonjee Framjee, a shroff of the bank, was next examined. The Court then adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow (Tuesday.) The special jury were allowed to separate with the usual warning.

Messrs. BENNETT and Co. have instructions to sell by public auction (on the premises) TO-MORROW, WEDNESDAY, the 28th day of November, 1883, at 4 p.m., the following very valuable property, namely—

The premises lately occupied by Messrs. Kelly and Co. and known as the "Byculla Hotel," consisting of a very large and well built three storeyed main building, having a projecting three storeyed wing behind it and a detached billiard-room (the latter having its own independent entrance direct on the Bellasis-road), together with a large yard, a cookroom, godown, stables, and servants' quarters in rear of the main buildings.

The premises are most favourably and conveniently situated, having a frontage upon the Bellasis-road of about 204 feet, and being about equal distance from the Byculla Station of the G. I. P. Railway and the Grant-road Station of the B. B. & C. I. Railway, and not more than one mile from each. The building is admirably adapted to the purpose for which it was built, and for which it has hitherto been used, namely, a first-class Hotel, but it is so arranged that it could, at a moderate expense, be readily partitioned into three or four distinct blocks, having separate entrances, so as to form six or eight commodious and convenient flats or sets of apartments capable of being let separately to private families (a class of accommodation for which there is increasing demand) while the ground floor from its position and frontage is admirably adapted for first-class shops

The main building and the greater portion of the detached billiard-room stand upon a freehold piece of land containing by admeasurement 2,250 square yards or thereabouts. The cookroom, godowns, stable and servants' quarters stand on an adjoining plot of land measuring 2,856 square yards or thereabouts, leased to the late Mr. John Treacher for a term of 31 years, which will expire on the 1st day of April, 1896.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had on application to the auctioneers or to Messrs. Crawford and Boevey, solicitors for the vendors, at their office, No. 19, Esplanade-road.

On FRIDAY, the 29th instant, at 1 p.m., Messrs. BENNETT & Co. are instructed to sell by Public Auction at the junction of Apollo and Marine-streets, the very valuable and handsome black and teakwood french-polished and richly carved household furniture (made to order) such as conversation coaches with velvet linings, easy chairs with damask linings, circular and oblong tables with marble tops, teapoys, bedroom light chairs, brass fourpost bedsteads, reclining chairs, iron gilt teapoys.

CHRONOGRAPH WATCHES, OF A NEW AND IMPROVED SYSTEM.

WE have just received a consignment of NEW RACE CHRONOGRAPH WATCHES which for durability, accuracy precision, and convenience leave nothing to be desired.

The Chronograph hand is in front of the watch over the hour and minut hands. The cases are extra strong, with a solid cover on the back and a glass nside to protect the work.

The general objections to the Chronographs with second hand and glass on the back were that those glasses often broke, and each time necessitated a cleaning; that the glasses did not thoroughly protect the works from dust; and that to move the regulator it almost required the help of a watchmaker.

All these serious drawbacks of an otherwise good watch have been avoided in the construction of our new and improved Chronograph watches.

They are in stock—
